

Delivery policy

After you have ordered and paid your own unique Revolo through the Revolo website, it is planned to ship your watch within 10 working days, if there are no questions/issues regarding the technical specifications, such as personalization. If we cannot meet the delivery time, we will contact you immediately.

Return policy

As most Revolo watches are made for the customers specification, it is not possible to return a watch, unless it is chosen from our sample collection. This is especially interesting for presents. If you are not happy with the way the watch turned out, there is a one time opportunity to return the watch and get a credit for 90% of the value of the returned watch, and use this credit to make a new purchase.